HURRY! HURRY!

COMMUNITY MINDED CITIZENS!

Our big day, Monday August 3rd is coming closer and closer. Are you, as an individual or organization participating in the giant parade? Have you offered your help to the hard working Chamber of Commerce staff who are in charge of this annual festival? If not, hurry, hurry!

Let us celebrate our 103rd birthday (the oldest town in Alberta) in a happy and solid way, showing our visitors from All over Alberta and the U.S.A. that we are really in a festive mood. Urge your kids to join in the parade with their decorated bicycles, and phone your friends to create some funny displays which add so much to the festive joy of this big birthday. Don't forget it is your birthday, it is your town. You can show once a year that you love it and like to do something for it.

Many organizations have already phoned the organizers to say that they will join the parade, but many more are needed to make the 1964 parade bigger and better than ever before! Your active participation will be abundantly rewarded with many free exciting events such as the Sky Diving, Grandstand Show, International Go-Kart races, Inter City Fast Ball, Soccer Champion game between St. Albert and Calgary, and of course, the always romantic fireworks display in Mission Park with our hill as a mighty background decoration.

St. Albert's Birthday Celebration has a good name in the Province. All of us should help to increase it in quality and quantity. Phone Vince Ratchinsky (599-6636) or Jack Manarey (599-7303) and tell them that you want to become an active participant in this 103rd birthday.

Last, but not least, see you at the end of the day in the historic St. Albert Community Hall where the big dance will bring the successful day to a pleasant close.

Community minded? Don't hesitate!

REFRESHER COURSE

The first of a yearly series of refresher courses for teachers starts at the University of Alberta this week. Fifty teachers from Alberta (many from St. Albert), and from the other Western provinces, are registering this week in a special two-week refresher course in Linguistics which has been arranged by the Faculty of Education and the Department of Extension. In two weeks' time ninety teachers will register for a similar refresher course in High School Chemistry.

These two refresher courses are designed to provide Alberta teachers with an opportunity to become familiar with recent advances in their teaching field. Knowledge is expanding at so rapid a rate that teachers, like other professional groups, are finding it imperative to refresh their education periodically and regularly.

The Chemistry course will assist teachers in preparing for the new material which has been introduced into the Chemistry 30 curriculum as approved for September 1964. Lectures will include discussions of the more difficult topics of the new program, and in the laboratory experiments and demonstrations suitable for the new Chemistry 30 program will be performed.

The response from teachers to this opportunity to increase their knowledge through a non-credit course has been gratifying, and both courses are over-registered. Next year additional subjects will be added to this program, providing teachers from a variety of subject areas with an opportunity to become familiar with new ideas, techniques and principles. In each case a team of instructors is engaged in presenting the material. The principal instructor in the Linguistics course is Dr. Henry J. Sustakoski of the State University of New York in Buffalo. The principal instructor in the Chemistry course is Dr. Willard F. Allen of the University of Alberta, Edmonton. Dr. Allen is co-author of the Chemistry 30 supplement to be used in Alberta this year.

CREATIVE SCHOOLS SOCIETY

The St. Albert Creative Schools Society held a special meeting June 24, 1964. Mrs. Bakker gave a statement on the philosophy of teaching as will be practised in the nursery school-kindergarten, which the Society proposes to operate in the coming school year for children 3½ to school age. This statement was mainly an answer to parents who thought their children too intelligent to attend a school where no academic subjects as such were taught. The answer was twofold: 1. The Department of Education of Alberta states that a kindergarten program should prepare a child for school "without infringing on the grade 1 program". 2. Intelligence is a three-sided quality which should not be confused with a good memory. Mrs. Hibberd gave a report on transportation costs that would be $10.00 a month per child extra if 40 children participated. A registration period will be held from August 31 to September 12, to be advertised in two successive editions of the Gazette. The commencement date of the school was delayed to October 1st due to the late Labour Day weekend. A suggestion was made that members make themselves available for any appropriate gatherings of interested persons (information on this 599-6225) to give a talk on more information on the Society and its proposed school. Ideas were expressed on the subjects of membership problems: how to convince parents with eligible children on the necessity of sending their child to a school with a qualified program; and money problems: how to acquire the capital needed to obtain initial materials, furniture, covering of advertising costs, etc. by other methods than the membership fees to the Society.

UNITED CHURCH

During the months of July and August for the past three years the congregations of St. Albert United and St. Albert Baptist Churches have met for joint services. Each congregation has taken responsibility for the pulpit supply for one of the months. This year the United Church was responsible for the month of July and the Baptist congregation will be responsible for the month of August. On Sunday last the pulpit was occupied by Mr. Morgan Lloyd, missionary to the Indians at Duffield, Alberta. Next Sunday the service will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. Ed Schwarz. A service of Infant Baptism will take place during the Morning Service which begins at 9:30 a.m. Because of recent events in St. Albert and in neighboring Edmonton, the theme of the sermon will be, "A Christian and the Bible's Attitude towards Games of Chance". Everyone is invited to attend. A meeting of those attending the Triple M Family Camp in August will be held in the Chapel following the service.

SUMMER FESTIVAL

The third concert in the Summer Festival series at the University of Alberta will begin at 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday, July 22 in Convocation Hall. At intermission if the weather is fine, the audience will be led by our "pied piper", Ernest Dalwood, to the fountain-patio near the Math-Physics Building for the remainder of the program. Those taking part will be Jean-Pierre Vetter, pianist; Marguerite Marzantowicz, violinist; Dorothe Langmo, violist; Walter Meyer, cellist; flautists Joan Pecover and Harlan Green and bassoonist Eddie Bayens. Tickets at $1.50 are available at the Allied Arts Box Office in the Bay or at the door of Convocation Hall. This program has been arranged by the Department of Extension.

SCHOOL PRINCIPALS CONFERENCE

Mr. Joseph H. Garber, Principal of the Leo Nickerson Elementary School, is one of 62 school principals meeting at Concordia College in Edmonton for two weeks beginning July 13 to study problems of educational leadership in local communities. His membership in this special leadership course for school principals, being conducted as a part of the University of Alberta Summer Session, is sponsored by the St. Albert Protestant Separate School District #6 School Board. The Course is a co-operative venture of the Alberta School Trustees' Association, the Council of School Administrators, the Alberta School Inspectors' Association, University of Alberta. Fifty city, county, divisional, and independent Alberta school systems will be represented. Representatives from the Saskatchewan Teachers' Federation, the Alberta Teachers' Association and the British Columbia Teachers' Federation will also be in attendance.

On July 20, 1793, Sir Alexander Mackenzie reached the Pacific Ocean.

CANCER

The terrible fear that strikes so many people at the mention of the word "Cancer" can be either a help or a hindrance to canvassers and educators warring against the disease, according to a leading psychologist.

Understanding, controlling and sometimes utilizing this human fear is a major task for everyone concerned with the war against cancer - including doctors, patients, researchers, campaign planners and door-to-door canvassers, according to Dr. Godfrey Hochbaum.

"Are we most likely to persuade people to take advantage of detection tests for cancer and other diseases if we appeal to their desires for health, strength, attractiveness or security - or if we appeal to their desires to avoid discomfort, pain, invalidism and death?" asked Dr. Hochbaum, head of the Behavioral Science Section of the U.S. Public Health Service.

"Some people may be motivated more by desire to feel safe and sound, others by a desire to prevent pain and disease" he concluded. "And, the same person may experience both motivations at various times, perhaps even simultaneously." The question, says Dr. Hochbaum, is not which of the two types of appeal to use, but how to use the potential power of both more effectively.

Moderate doses of fear can lead to rational action, the psychologist said. But at extreme intensity, it can produce a kind of paralysis and leads to unpredictable responses.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR CHANGE OF NAME

Notice is hereby given that I, WALTER LAWRENCE COLLINS otherwise known as WALTER LAWRENCE KOCHANOWSKI of ST. ALBERT in the Province of Alberta, Farmer, intend to make application to the Provincial Secretary, under the provisions of The Change of Name Act, 1961, for change of name as follows: For a change of my name to WALTER LAWRENCE KOCHANOWSKI

Walter Lawrence Collins

"For example, persons most perturbed at the thought of cancer often stay well away from cancer exhibits and adamantly refuse to read literature about it. In a more subtle way, some people avoid the pain of fear by rationalizing away its cause," he said.

"Many a heavy smoker is prone to deny the statistical evidence of the link between smoking and lung cancer. By his denial, the smoker assures himself he has no need to fear. And as evidence of the risks becomes more difficult to shrug off, some smokers actually increase their tobacco consumption - as though trying to prove to themselves they don't accept the evidence and so have nothing to be afraid of."

Dr. Hochbaum acknowledged that fear-stimulating messages may direct a person's attention to a danger, and even make him more receptive, temporarily, to further relevant information.

"However, intense fear, like intense enthusiasm, doesn't last long. Attitudes anchored in understanding and information are more durable," he noted. "Positive educational techniques are needed to keep the attention and channel it into useful action."

"Fear is a powerful motivating force in health problems - in moderation. But we must guard against intensifying it too much lest we defeat our own purposes," he concluded.
